ABOUT THE AUTHOR

David A. Kelly lives near Boston. He used to play baseball when he was little, but he wasn’t very good. That’s why he became a writer. He has two sons (who are good baseball players), a nice wife who’s also a writer, and dog named Samantha. She’s a little crazy, but she loves to play with stuffed animals.

Mr. Kelly’s written about a lot of different subjects, like places to travel to and cool new gadgets. But he’s also interested in baseball. In fact, he even wrote a book about the greatest hitter of all time, Babe Ruth! His book, Babe Ruth and the Baseball Curse (Random House) tells all about Babe Ruth, the Boston Red Sox, and how some people think the Red Sox were cursed after they sold Babe to their arch rivals, the New York Yankees! It’s a pretty neat book even if you aren’t a Red Sox fan!

If you want to know where to travel, you can read Mr. Kelly’s travel articles in publications such as the New York Times, Boston Globe, New York Post, Chicago Sun-Times, Miami Herald, multiple AAA publications and many more newspapers and magazines. He is also the Business Travel Guide for About.com.

Questions

TEXT-TO-SELF CONNECTION

Good readers always think about the book or text as they are reading.

Sometimes a reader might come across an event in the text that makes her think about her own life. When a reader thinks about his own life while reading, he is making a text-to-self connection. Please write about a text-to-self connection to The Fenway Foul-Up. If you want, you can use the suggestions below to help you.

1) Big D lost something that was very important to him. Write about a time you lost something that was very important to you.

2) Mike and Kate help Big D find his lucky bat. Write about a time you helped someone solve a problem.

Writer’s Checklist

- Indentation
- Topic sentence
- An event that happened in the text.
- A similar event that happened in your life.
- Concluding sentence
Give your paper to another student to proofread.

2. What was stolen? Big D’s bat was stolen.
3. Where did they find the bat? They found the bat in the souvenir shop.

TEXT-TO-SELF CONNECTION ANSWERS

Answers vary.
SUGGESTED BOOK PROJECTS

1. FENWAY FOUL-UP SOUVENIR STAND

Create your own Fenway Souvenir Stand. Draw five different souvenirs on paper. Here are some suggestions: bat, t-shirt, poster, pen, and baseball. Label each one with a price under $2.00. Give your friends $5.00 in fake money and ask them to shop at your stand. Don’t forget to have change on hand.

2. BASEBALL BIOS

Who is your favorite baseball player? Research your favorite baseball player on the web. Write a paragraph that includes three facts about your favorite player, and draw a picture of him or her.

3. CHARACTER CARD

Make an 11 by 18 inch baseball card of your favorite character in FENWAY FOUL-UP. Your card should include the character’s name, a drawing of him or her, three items that are important to your character such as a bat, ball, or a glove, and a letter that he or she wrote to a family member that explains what happens in the book.

4. SUPER SKITS

What do you think Kate and Mike did after they talked to Big D in the dugout? Write the next scene and perform it for your classmates.

5. FENWAY FACTS

On a piece of poster board, draw a baseball diamond game board. Start and finish will be home plate. On index cards, write questions about the Boston Red Sox. Make sure to put the answer on the bottom of the card. Each player rolls a die. If he or she can answer one of the Fenway facts, he or she moves that number of spaces. If not, he or she stays put. The first player to tag all the bags (move from home to first, second, third, and back again) wins the game.
